

Short sessions ...

Cultural diversity and palliative care

Improve your knowledge and skill around cultural diversity in the palliative care context

Come and join our 50-minute online sessions for free!

Suitable for palliative care, acute and aged care clinicians.

Presenter: Tanja Bahro, manager of the Southern Metro Palliative Care Consortium has many years' experience in cultural diversity policy and education. Her presentation style is interactive and engaging, and you will not be bored!

Each session will be delivered via Zoom and have a maximum of 12 participants

Cultural diversity essentials

Wed 21 Oct 1pm – 1:50pm

- to understand what culture is
- identify our own cultural values
- understanding the stats
- culture and palliative care

Cross cultural communication and intro to working with interpreters

Thu 29 Oct 2pm – 2:50pm

- elements of communication
- becoming a competent cross-cultural communicator
- when and how to work with interpreters

Cultural diversity and health

Tue 3 Nov 1pm – 1:50pm

- why is it important to consider culture in the palliative care context?
- myths about cultures
- negotiating between belief systems

Health literacy and palliative care

Wed 11 Nov 2pm – 2:50pm

- what is health literacy?
- why is it important?
- how does it impact on the palliative care context?
- introduction to teach back

Working with culturally diverse teams

Fri 20 Nov 1pm – 1:50pm

- values and end of life – the intersection
- considering culture in building teams
- conflict negotiation

Registration is essential as places are limited

For further information please email... tanja.bahro@smrpcc.org.au