

SMRPCC Scholarship

Transition to Specialist Palliative Care 2023

Information for Applicants

The Southern Metropolitan Region Palliative Care Consortium (SMRPCC) offers scholarships for participants of the 2023 Transition to Specialist Palliative Care course.

Nurses employed in health or aged care services in the Southern Metropolitan Region are eligible to apply.

The scholarship aims to encourage nurses to:

- increase their knowledge and skills in palliative care
- take those skills back to their workplace
- work towards post graduate qualifications in palliative care.

The scholarships are to a maximum of $500 and will be provided upon completion of the course.

Who can apply? (You must fulfil all criteria below)

Nurses who:

- work in health or aged care services in the Southern Metropolitan region of Melbourne
- are accepted into the Transition to Palliative Care course
- complete the Transition to Palliative Care course
- pay for the course themselves.

What is your commitment?

You will need to provide evidence that you:

- are employed as a nurse in health or aged care services in the region
- have completed and passed the course
- have paid for the course.

For further information, a confidential conversation about your potential application or an application form please contact:

Tanja Bahro, Consortium Manager

tanja.bahro@smrpcc.org.au

